children like Anthony benefited from having a CASA volunteer.

Anthony was deprived of any education by his parents. When the state took custody of him at 8 years old, he only communicated by pointing at images and using a few ASL signs. You gave Anthony a CASA volunteer who is fluent in ASL. She began building his ability to communicate immediately. In 2025, he graduated one speech therapy program and began another. His communication skills are now flourishing!

Miranda received occupational therapy and has learned to grasp objects!

Aaron has been reunited with his dad!

Sarah asked her foster
family to adopt her!

Bradley moved to an adoptive home after spending a year in a treatment facility!

YOU helped make all of this possible!

You funded volunteers like Evelyn

During her 12 years as a CASA volunteer, Evelyn Mitchell has regularly made recommendations or uncovered information that changed the course of a case for the better. During 2025, Evelyn has been on an especially challenging case. But she has kept her cool and remained focused on listening to the children and speaking up for their best interests in court — even when others disagree. You made it possible for Evelyn to do this life-changing work!

You made sure kids in a tough situation could count on Evelyn!

Trina is finally safe from the person who sexually abused her!

Nathan has found a stable foster home!

Madison has an education plan that is helping her grades improve!

David began an independent living program, helping prepare him for adulthood!

Three kids are safer now because you funded their CASA volunteer!

YOU helped these kids!

When three kids were removed in early 2025 and their case came before a family court judge, the details were shocking. The children all had multiple wounds and had possibly consumed narcotics. After the judge reviewed the case, she announced in court, “I want my CASAs on it.” One of your most accomplished CASA volunteers is now on the case and moving mountains to transform these kids’ lives.
